The 1945

Lanthorn

The Army

Aviation Students

*I*N FEBRUARY, 1943, Susquehanna was selected by the War Department as one of the colleges to give the Army Air Forces training program. A contingent of over three hundred Aviation Students (known as the 35th College Training Detachment) entered the college in the spring of 1943 for this intensive course. In the succeeding months a regular flow of these students came to and went from our campus, remaining about five months to cover their course.

As this LANTHORN goes to press, word has been received that the exigencies of the Air Forces program call for a reduction in the number of men who can now be trained for that branch and that about one-half of the colleges (situated in the North and far from the Southern air fields) will be released from their contracts in the late spring of 1944. When this actually happens, Susquehanna will have co-operated in this Air Corps program for fifteen consecutive months.

During this time the two dormitories for men, Hassinger Hall and Selinsgrove Hall, were occupied by the Aviation Students. The first floor of the gymnasium was also used for their barracks. Civilian men students were housed in the fraternity houses.

Seibert Hall, the dormitory for women, was not turned over to the Air Corps program but was completely reserved for women students.

The Air Corps academic program was completely separate from that of the civilian college, even though the same instructors taught in both programs.

The Commanding Officer of the 35th College Training Detachment was Captain George M. Green. He was assisted by First Lieutenant James H. Zimmerman, First Lieutenant Peter G. Kardassakis, First Lieutenant Charles Cowing and Second Lieutenant Norman C. Johnson.

Susquehanna students are proud that their college was one of a relatively small number chosen to participate in the Army Air Corps program. It has been a pleasure to have had the Aviation Students on our campus.

We Honor

EDUCATION has been converted into war use. What effect will this emphasis on materials, machines, and methods of destruction have on the leaders of tomorrow who are the youth today? We, as members of the class of 1945 dedicate the LANTHORN to all those Susquehannans who are serving their country in these critical days, shrouded in doubt, fear, and anxiety.

Memories of the Year

the Classes ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

'44

Since we first viewed Susquehanna's campus early in the fall of 1940 as happy and, perhaps, irresponsible youngsters, a great many things of importance have happened to us socially, intellectually, and spiritually.

Each year, as it came, we thought would be our most memorable one. As freshmen, our get-away was successful and we also found ourselves the victors in the annual Soph-Frosh football game.

During our sophomore year, the freshmen were shown the art of initiation and were handed a 6-0 defeat in the traditional football game. Our Sophomore Hop proved to be a great dance strictly adhering to the war-time restrictions by having handmade programs and no decorations.

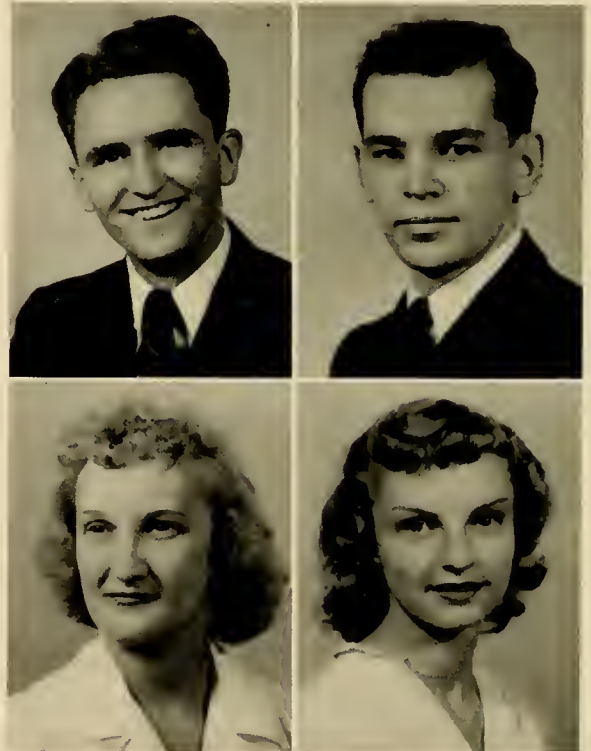

Our junior year, we proudly hailed the men and women who left our ranks to serve their country. With only nineteen of the original one hundred and five, we strove to carry on by maintaining a very successful Prom and a most remarkable LANTHORN.

As seniors, the realization that we are soon to leave this campus, perhaps forever, to make our separate ways in an uncertain and turbulent world has made each experience something that will be treasured.

The years of war have awakened us to the necessity of our rendering unselfish and helpful service to our fellowmen—the service which Susquehanna has been giving for so many years that it has become a part of the tradition which is our heritage.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

With the opening of the year, we find there are only eleven of us left of the eighty-seven freshmen who entered Susquehanna on September 15, 1941.

We feel that we owe a lot to those who were in our class because most of them are now in the armed services. They were our classmates whom we learned to know very well during the time they were here on campus with us.

Our freshman year we had our successful "get-away" with John Baker as class president. There was active participation in athletics and other activities by the members of the class.

Outstanding during the sophomore year was the Soph Hop which was a success socially and financially.

This our junior year, with the addition of several other students, we want to continue in the athletic field and in our scholastic field. We are looking forward to the Junior Prom as a highlight.

May this year be victorious and progressive in every way. We want to uphold the high standards of Susquehanna by doing all we can in these crucial days.

We sophomores returned in the fall to the halls of dear old SU only to find that some of our beloved number who, the year before, had shared in all our frosh activity at Susquehanna, could not return. This history is dedicated to those who have gone to meet the demands of a nation at war, to those who made our freshman year at Susquehanna one of the most pleasant experiences of our lives.

The matter of first importance this year was the organization of an initiation program. Despite the fact that there were wartime restrictions on hazing, we succeeded in having the traditional riotous "hazing day."

Our second concern was the sophomore "hop." Of this we are justly proud. The "Snow Ball," as it was called, was a financial as well as a social success. The gym, glittering with stars, lights, and a majestic Christmas tree, impressed upon us a memory that we shall never forget.

Highlighted by dances, parties, and other activities, this year has too quickly drawn to a close.

Now, as we stand facing our junior year, we express our determination that we shall keep pressing onward and upward throughout our college years, ever gaining, still pursuing, and always striving to attain our goal, remembering all the memories which may be born anew after the present strife is over.

On September 13, 1943, we "greenies" arrived on the campus, doubting whether we could ever understand all the complications of a first day in college. Friends and faculty helped us in our difficulties, however, and soon college became an understandable procedure.

The sophs soon undertook the self-appointed, but long-precedented, task of guiding our verdant feet in what paths they should go. Their words of experienced wisdom appeared prominently on the campus.

Following the "hazing" period, school became a routine, although a delightful one, of studying, cramming, parties, dances, week-ends, friendships, and other pleasant experiences which we shall never forget. Now, all too quickly, our freshman year has drawn to a close.

The class of '47 has been dealt with squarely in every way. We gratefully appreciate this on the part of everyone, especially on the part of our worthy predecessors, the class of '46. We hope that we may follow the example of those who have gone before. We shall lay down our duties as freshmen and assume the greater ones as sophomores. May we be capable of assuming the responsibilities expected of us in our future years at Susquehanna.

The Fraternity Senate was organized in 1939 to replace the inter-fraternity council as the governing body. It is composed of the president and the faculty adviser of each fraternity and Dean Galt as chairman. The presidency rotates among the fraternities each year, while the social chairman is systematically chosen from the members.

The purpose of the Senate is to determine the number of pledges each fraternity may take, rushing season, and general rushing regulations. It also plans the inter-fraternity social events made necessary by the decreasing number of fraternity men. The Senate has done much to create a better understanding and to relieve strained relationships among its members.

The Inter-Sorority Council functions to bring about greater co-operation among the three sororities on campus. It finds its main purpose in regulating freshman rushing, planning teas, hikes, and other activities of the rush program. The members are composed of three representatives from each sorority: the president, vice president, and one other delegate, with the presidential office rotating among the sororities each year. The Dean of Women is the faculty adviser. The Council meets monthly and in addition to determining rush policies, engages in social activities such as sponsoring dances.

WOMEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL

The Women's Student Council, composed of representatives from each class, meets the second Monday of every month, and is followed by a general house meeting the same evening.

The program of freshman orientation and hazing is under the jurisdiction of the council, and a meeting is held early in the year to explain the rules and traditions to the incoming freshman class.

There are many activities in Seibert Hall engaged in by the council: fire drills, Parents' Day activities, Christmas decorations, New York Times subscription, evening dancing, and the sale of "cokes" and other useful articles.

This year the members sponsored a project to fix over the Day Students' room and also sponsored the annual Homecoming Dance and other dances throughout the year.

MEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL

The Men's Student Council membership is composed of two representatives from each of the three fraternities, two representatives from the ranks of the non-fraternity men, and a faculty adviser. It endeavors to effect a closer union of the students, as well as to promote a better understanding between faculty and students. In peace time it formulated the rules by which the freshmen were oriented by the sophomores.

Because of the small enrollment of men this year, there has been little need for any activity by the council.

Tau Kappa Alpha, the national forensic honor fraternity, is a small organization on the campus composed of those who have demonstrated great ability and active participation in speech work.

The topic for debate this year throughout the United States and also for the society here at Susquehanna University was: "Should the United States co-operate in establishing and maintaining a world police organization?" After much study of the problem and many practice debates, the teams attended a debate tournament at Shippensburg State Teachers College on January 27. The society was also represented at the Pennsylvania State Debaters' Convention at State College, and engaged in other activities of both speaking and debating.

VICE PRESIDENTS' COUNCIL

The Vice Presidents' Council is an organization which has proved to be quite successful in the past three years of its existence. Its function is that of maintaining a condition which makes study possible during specified times as stated in the Seibert Hall regulations.

The presiding officer of the council is the house president who is elected by the Women's Student Council. The house president then appoints five vice presidents to help her enforce the rules which are kept in effect.

Because of the desire of the council members to co-operate and fulfill their respective duties, everyone is benefited by it and its importance is shown as a student governing agent.

The National Honorary Social Science Society, Pi Gamma Mu, finds as its purpose the stimulation of interest in, and consideration of, current social events. At the regular monthly meetings held either in the homes of faculty members or in Seibert Hall social rooms, programs dealing with this very purpose are presented. Following the presentation of the main address, round table discussions are held on the topic of the evening. Some especially interesting subjects were: the war in Russia and the American Indians in the Susquehanna Valley.

The Concert Orchestra, formerly known as the Symphonic Society, is conducted by Professor Russell C. Hatz.

Because many of the members have been called into the Service since last year, it has been necessary to make changes in the personnel of the orchestra. With much success and untiring effort on the part of the director, an exceptionally high standard has been attained.

The climax of the season is the annual Spring Concert in Seibert Hall, featuring an eminent soloist. In the past years, the Concert Orchestra has presented such artists as Dorothy Minty, violinist; Bernard Greenhouse, cellist, and Zena Gemmalo, clarinetist.

Susquehanna, playing her second year of curtailed war-time basketball under the stress of an accelerated Army Air Corps program and lacking the aid of experienced men, nevertheless proved her mettle by capturing six of her twelve contests. The team was captained by Bill Janson until his graduation at semesters and finished under the helm of G. Morris Smith, Jr. The remainder of the squad was composed of Roy Gutshall, senior, Mechanicsburg; David Heim, senior, Cogan Station; Henry Hopkins, senior, Snyderstown; John Kocsis, junior, South River, N. J.; Donald Herrold, sophomore, Port Trevorton; Jack Levy, sophomore, West Pittston; Bernard Swiencki, sophomore, Glen Lyon; Joseph Taylor, sophomore, Wildwood, N. J.; Rine Winey, sophomore, Selinsgrove; and Daniel Reitz, freshman, Selinsgrove. Roswell Johns, freshman, Honesdale, was student manager.

BAS

Swiencki, sharp shooting ace, netted 198 points to take scoring honors while the team as a whole outscored their opponents, 536 to 471.

SU opened her hardwood season at Huntington against her traditional rival, Juniata, and went down to defeat, 51-34 before a strong Indian team, paced by Captain Henry Eisenhart. Inexperience as a team proved to be SU's weakness. Captain Janson started at center with Reitz and Smith at forward and Kocsis and Swiencki in the guard slots. Swiencki was high for the Crusaders with 9 markers.

KETBALL

Bloomsburg State Teachers College, which proved to be one of the great teams of Pennsylvania of the 1943-1944 season, set back SU in her first home game, 43-29. Captain Janson put nine points through the net to lead SU's scoring, which, at no time, threatened the Bloom team.

The third game of the season took SU to Bloomsburg State Teachers College for a return game, and again the Crusaders were on the short end of the score. This time the scoring ended at 45-27. SU played brilliant ball the first half, leading 19-18, but fatigue of the starting five, with no experienced subs, sent SU down to defeat. Smith and Swiencki each netted seven points for the Crusaders.

SU received her fourth straight loss of the season at the hands of Penn State when they were defeated, 45-25. However, considering that SU had twenty-six men from which to choose a team, while Penn State had over a thousand Navy men; it must be considered a moral victory for Susquehanna. Maddocks, one of the star players on last year's SU Jay Vee squad, was on the Penn State squad. Joe Taylor, substituting in the last thirty seconds of the game, made, in the last second of play, what has been claimed the longest field goal ever made on the Penn State floor. Reitz, with nine markers to his credit, was high scorer for SU.

SU smashed through to her first victory of the season over Milton Y. M. C. A., 59-26, on the Alumni Gym floor. Roy Gutshall started his first collegiate game in Captain Janson's position. It was a clean and decisive victory for the Crusaders, paced by Swiencki, who hit the cords for twenty-nine points.

Lacking the starting support of her two regular players, Janson and Smith, Susquehanna, nevertheless smashed through to a 41-40 victory over a strong Elizabethtown five. It was undoubtedly the greatest game of the year played in the Alumni Gym, and SU won it in the last minute of play. SU trailed the greater part of the game, but came through in the last three minutes of the last quarter to score eight points and victory. Reitz and Swiencki each netted thirteen points for the Crusaders.

Susquehanna lost for the second time of the year to Juniata in the Alumni Gym, where she fell before a withering blow of baskets before a rejuvenated second-half Juniata team. Susquehanna, again paced by Swiencki, with eleven points, held a half-time advantage 21-20, but fell apart in the second half. This was the last game in the brilliant basketball career of Captain Bill Janson at Susquehanna.

The Crusader Five came through with her third win of the season by defeating Gettysburg Seminary, 37-27, in Alumni Gym. Three Seminary players, Gene Smith, Herm Stuempfle, and George Bass, returned to play against their college alma mater. Dan Reitz led SU with twelve points, and at no time was Susquehanna's leading position threatened.

Journeying to Elizabethtown, SU suffered defeat for the first time in many years at the hands of an E'town team, 44-35. SU allowed Elizabethtown's star and captain, Buch, to run loose, and he netted twenty-eight points for the E'towners. Dan Reitz, star forward of the Crusaders, played his last game for SU when he fractured a bone in his right foot. It was again Swiencki in the lead with eleven markers for SU.

Encountering Gettysburg Seminary for the second time this season in Alumni Gym, Susquehanna proved that the first encounter was no mistake by defeating the "Sem" again, 34-21. Although it was a closely played game throughout, SU led in all quarters. Stuempfle and Smith each netted nine for Gettysburg, while Swiencki put nineteen through for SU.

The Crusaders, following up their win over Gettysburg, ran up the largest score an SU basketball team ever made, 94-45, against Westinghouse Electric of Sunbury. Bernard Swiencki also set another school record when he made forty-one points in the game, while Bud Smith made thirty-one. The combination, Swiencki and Smith, was invincible.

Again, five days later on February 28, to end the season, SU broke another school record in the game with Milton Y. M. C. A., when the final score stood, 91-24, which is the greatest difference in scoring in Susquehanna's basketball history. Again it was Swiencki with thirty-eight points, Smith with twenty-nine, and sharpshooting guard, John Kocsis, with seventeen.

Thus another season closed on Susquehanna's basketball history. One that cannot be rated with the best, but one that under the conditions, showed that as long as SU can put five men on the floor, she will carry on.

John Kocsis was elected to captaincy of the team during the 1944-45 season. Major letters in basketball were awarded to Captains Janson and Smith, Reitz, Kocsis, Swiencki, Gutshall, Winey, and Hopkins; a minor letter to David Heim; and numerals to manager Roswell Johns.

The Women's Athletic Association was organized for the purpose of stimulating a general interest in girls' athletic activities, to regulate girls' interclass sports, and moreover, to promote a common interest in mind—"true sportsmanship."

Any girl is eligible for membership after she has earned at least two hundred and fifty points. Her membership can be retained if she is able to earn two hundred additional points every year thereafter. The point system is based upon participation in the various sports.

Monthly business meetings are held and social activities are conducted throughout the year. Girls from all classes compose the membership of this organization.
